

Photo Folders

Your photos, sorted into folders by themselves.

An iPhone app that looks at your pictures, invents folders for what it finds, and lets you search them in plain words. Everything stays on your phone.

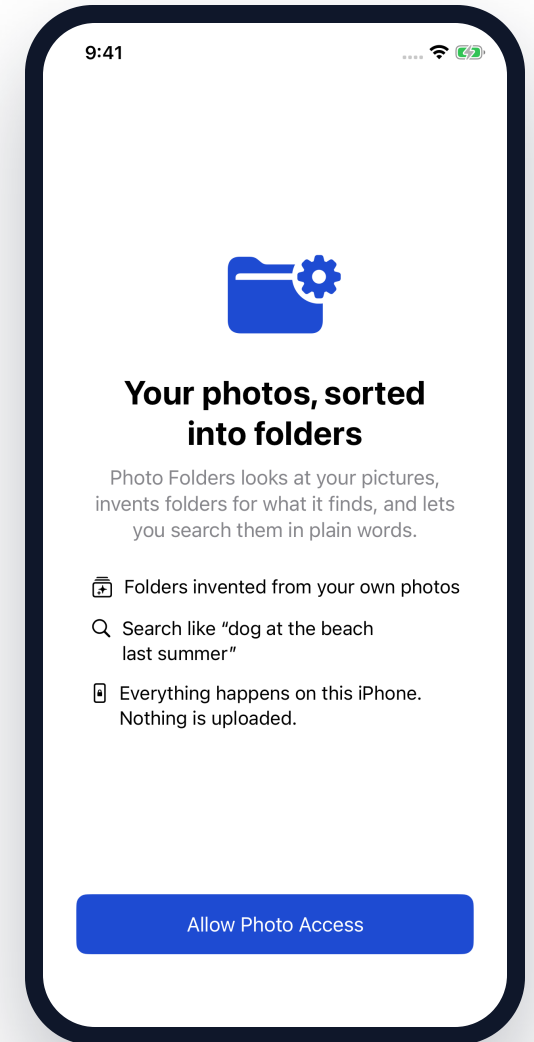

THE PROBLEM

Thousands of photos. One endless scroll.

Beaches, pets, receipts, dinners and screenshots all sit in one long row, sorted only by date. Finding "that photo of the dog on the grass" means scrolling back through months.

FOLDERS IT INVENTS ITSELF

It works out the folders from your own photos

- No fixed list: someone with lots of hiking gets "Mountain" and "Lake"; a foodie gets "Food".
- Every folder shows four of its photos on the cover, so you know what's inside before you open it.
- Press and hold a folder for a quick peek.
- Inside, photos are grouped by outing or by month.

SEARCH IN PLAIN WORDS

Type it the way you'd say it dog

puppies on the grass

mountain lake

food last month

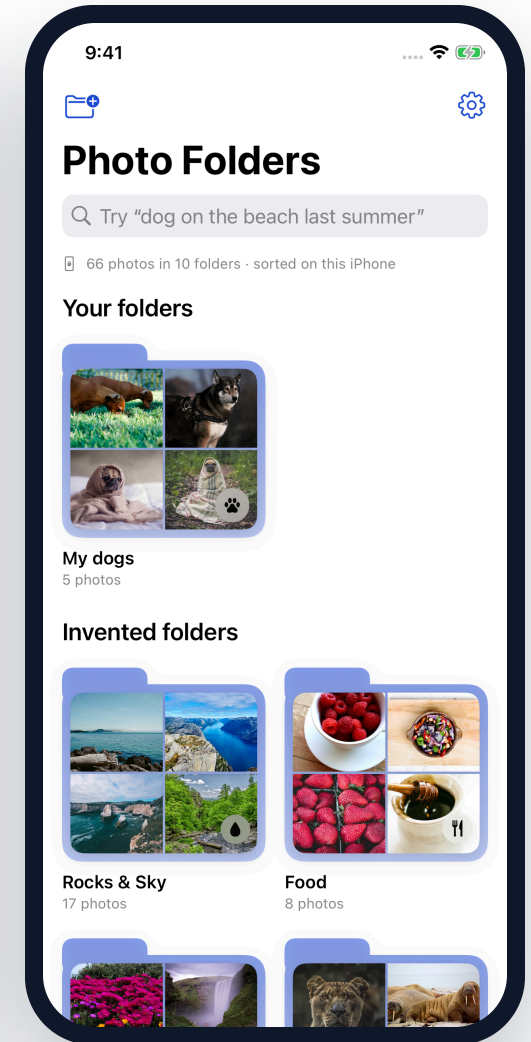

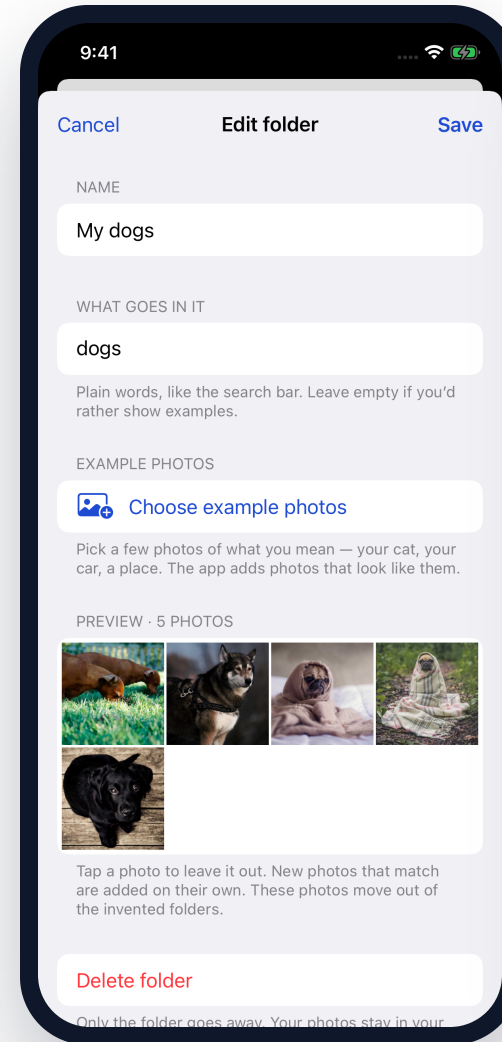

- Understands everyday words: "puppies" finds dogs.
- Forgives typos: "beahc" still finds the beach.
- Understands dates like "last summer" or "in 2024".
- Finds words printed in your photos too, like signs and receipts.

YOUR OWN FOLDERS

Make your own folders

- Describe it: type "dogs" or "receipts", and every matching photo drops in.
- Or show it: pick a few example photos of your cat, your car or a place, and it finds the look-alikes.
- See the preview straight away, and tap any photo to leave it out.
- New photos that match are added on their own.

PRIVATE BY DESIGN

Your photos never leave your phone

Sorted on the iPhone itself, using Apple's own built-in photo recognition.

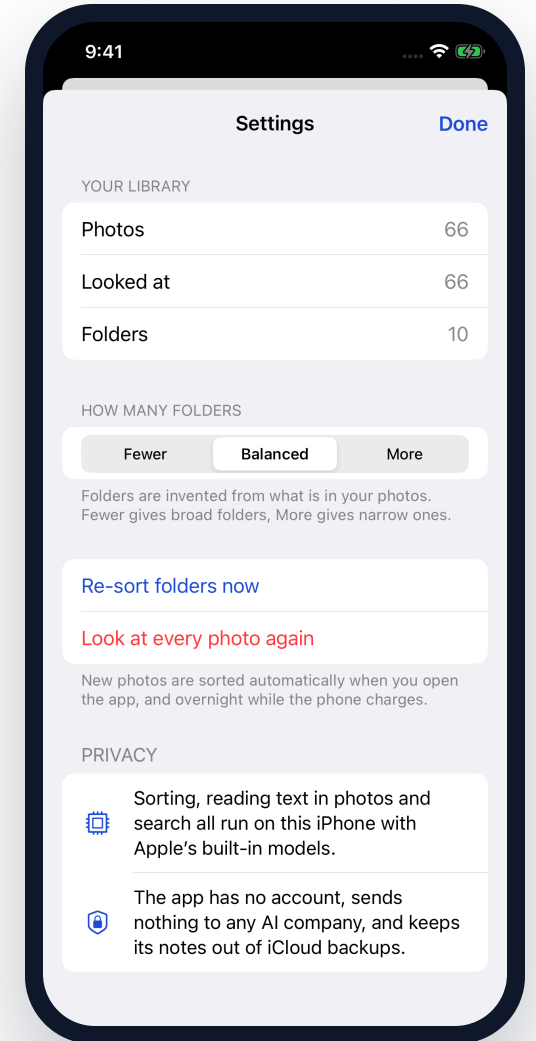

Nothing uploaded, no account. No AI company ever sees a picture.

Works offline, even in airplane mode.

Keeps up by itself: new photos are sorted when you open the app, and overnight while the phone charges.

TRY IT

Help us test it

This is an early test version. Install it, let it sort your library, and tell us:

- Do the folder names make sense for your photos?
- Did a search ever miss something you expected it to find?
- Is there a folder you wish it had made?

Needs an iPhone on iOS 17 or newer.
